Dear Brothers and Sisters,

Unfortunately, due to some unforeseen circumstances the 2015 Budget must be postponed until the February General Meeting.

In order to present a more accurate accounting of the union's expenses for 2014 to the membership the Financial Secretary, the Trustees, and the Executive Board of IATSE 118 have decided to postpone any specific discussion of the 2015 Budget.

At the January 24th General Meeting the usual business of the local will be dealt with, but no information regarding projected 2015 or up to date 2014 expenses can be offered for discussion. A revised projection of salaries will be sent out with February's notice of meeting.

Thank you for your understanding.

Whereas:
A member recently arrived at the union office by appointment to view official union and employer documents that pertain to a matter directly affecting him. He brought along a fellow member to assist him. He was denied permission to have the member enter the union office for that purpose. Two union officers told him he must attend by himself behind a closed door and sign a waiver stating that he would not copy, photograph or use the documents in any way before being allowed to view them. The member stated that he did not feel safe or comfortable being behind a closed door with the two officers and asked to be allowed to have the other member with him. He was denied. He also asked to have a copy of the waiver in order to seek advice on whether he should sign it. He was denied. He was not advised of any rule or protocol regarding the above prior to arriving at the office; and

Whereas:
Prior to 2014 the unofficial procedure was to request an appointment, come to the office to view and copy documents at the member's expense using office equipment. They could do so with or without a fellow member or witness, or the member could be sent copies of the requested documents. There was no restriction on having someone accompany the member and there was no requirement to have a member sign a waiver stating that they would not copy, photograph or use the documents in any way; and

Whereas:
Copies of member relevant documents traditionally have been filed in the big correspondence binder brought to General Meetings and also copied to the individual member's hard copy file. This has been done in the past to facilitate any ongoing investigation and in order to assist the office and the member in keeping track of information from himself, the office, employers or outside agencies that may need to be referred to quickly rather than having to crosscheck through all correspondence in the big binder by date. While not a policy, this is simple common sense. A member's file should be complete with all correspondence to him, from him and affecting him; and

Whereas:
There is no clearly established protocol for viewing documents in the union office. There is no rule or policy excluding a member from having a witness accompany them while in the office and none regarding whether the accompanying member(s) may also view the document(s) with the original member's permission. There is no rule denying a member from making copies or photographs of document(s). How else could the member be expected to represent himself or be represented without free access to those documents in whatever form they deem necessary?; and

Whereas:
It is preferable to use common sense rather than establishing a policy for every detail of running an office in a responsible and consistent manner. Too much policy can bog down efficiency. Too little can lead to situations such as that which is described above. That being said, we must always err on the side of serving the needs of the member first and foremost. Therefore in the interest of seeing an example of union office accountability and transparency I am putting forth the following policy proposal:

Be it resolved that the following policy be adopted:

IATSE Local 118 Document Copying and Viewing Policy

(A) Personal files: Members can make an appointment to view and copy documents that are in their personal file in the union office. Any copies printed in excess of ten (10) pages will be paid for at the member's own expense. The price per copy will not exceed standard copying rates as established by commercial photocopy outlets. Members will be invoiced for copies and will pay the invoice within 30 calendar days from the time the invoice is documented as sent. If a member chooses not to attend at the office in person to view and make copies he can have the requested documents scanned and sent to him by email or copied and sent by regular mail or by registered mail at the member's expense in accordance with the above. This includes scanned as well as hard copies. Appointments will be granted within three weekdays from the time of the member's written request unless mutually agreed otherwise between the union and the member. Copies of all documents relating to the member from themselves, the union, employers and/or any outside party will be kept available in their file as well as in the master correspondence file. In the event that a file is missing or lost from the member's file it can be copied from the master correspondence file or from any other location including office computers. If a matter is pending or under investigation it is not sufficient reason to prohibit the member from copying or viewing files. Members may make written or typed notes in addition to the above. Members may bring another member or members to assist them. Members need not sign a waiver prohibiting them from disclosing the contents of their personal file but will be guided by the IATSE Local 118 Constitution and By-Laws. Any member who does not have a copy of the Constitution and By-Laws will have one provided to them at no expense.

(B) General files: Members can make an appointment to view, but not copy, documents in the union office contained in the master correspondence file and in the General, Special and Executive Board official minutes books in the union office. Appointments will be granted within five weekdays from the time of their written request unless mutually agreed otherwise between the union and the member. Members may make written or typed notes with respect to the above. Members may bring another member or members to assist them. Members need not sign a waiver prohibiting them from disclosing the contents of the files they view but will be guided by the IATSE Local 118 Constitution and By-Laws. Any member who does not have a copy of the Constitution and By-Laws will have one provided to them at no expense.

(C) Other files: Members may view union financial documents, legal bills and other files (not including Health and Welfare) in accordance with section (B) above, except that any active files deemed confidential by the President and two other Executive Board officers may only be viewed with the agreement of a majority of the Executive Board convened at a regularly scheduled Executive Board meeting. A file will be considered active if there has not been an agreed-upon settlement of the specific issue.
